Inspection, Testing, and Maintenance Programs

An Approved Protection Systems representative will schedule a meeting with you at your convenience, survey your facility, and evaluate your system's current condition and service requirements. Our representative will then develop a service agreement to ensure your life safety systems are inspected, tested, and maintained to keep them operating as designed. Following each scheduled inspection or test, a technician will provide a detailed report as outlined by the National Fire Protection Association and your local authority to identify potential opportunities for improving system performance and assisting in code compliance.

Fire Alarm Systems

The most current techniques and equipment are utilized on every inspection to meet the rigorous requirements of today's complex fire alarm systems. We make a special effort to thoroughly test and inspect all of your system's components for proper operation. We can significantly reduce unwanted false alarms by keeping your smoke detectors clean and ready to respond at the required sensitivity level.

Fire Suppression Systems

Approved Protection Systems service technicians are highly trained in the inspection and servicing of fire suppression systems, including kitchen hoods and special hazard systems. We make sure your automatic fire suppression systems are tested, inspected, and maintained as required.

Security Systems

Our technicians are experienced in servicing the access control, intrusion, and closed circuit television systems that protect your building and its occupants from any unwanted entry. We also provide inspection services that ensure your system is operating as designed. We make sure the integrity of your system has not been compromised by usage or time.

Central Station Monitoring

Approved Protection Systems Central Station Monitoring service is supported by a UL and Factory Mutual Certified facility. Our highly trained operators are ready to identify and respond to incoming alarms. They will immediately notify the appropriate authorities and individuals as required.
